The Legend

One day, an officer named 'Martin von Tours' is riding across the snow-covered town. He's stopping his horse when he's seeing a poor man which is sitting on the roadside into the snow.

Martin von Tours' has nothing by himself without his coat and sword.

He doesn't hold off and cut with the sword his coat in two pieces.

The first piece gets the poor man and the second piece gets Martin for himself.

All people who saw that tell it all over the world.
