

Christmas Markets

For many of us begins the beautiful time of the year, that is the Christmas markets in Germany again. It is the reflective time of the year, characterized by candlelight and cookies smell frost on the windows, mysterious Christmas stories, freezing cold and romantic nights in the open fireplace. Gingerbread, Printen, galleries, Spiced, Cinnamon, mulled wine and hot apple juice are adhered to, and there at the Christmas market in the large selection and best quality.

Most visitors come with family, friends or work colleagues at the Christmas market. Singles will find perhaps the dear people with whom they want to spend the holidays.

And some can be a good glass of mulled wine, the best moments happen this year revue and looks forward to a well-deserved

Christmas break. The Christmas markets are really a good attunement for the Christmas.

Story of the christman markets

In the 14th Century came at Christmas to give the custom, craftsmen such as basket makers, toy makers and confectioners permission to erect on the market stalls to sell their produce and products for Christmas. The foundation for the Christmas market was so laid, and year after year, spreading the tradition of the Christmas markets.

Well-known and traditional Christmas markets

The most famous Christmas market in the world is probably the Nuremberg Christmas market, which was presented from the outset of the Christ figure of a girl. The Nuremberg Christmas Market has existed since the 17th Century. Among the enticements include Nuremberg sausages and gingerbread.

The biggest christmas markets in Germany

Aachen, Augsburg, Berlin, Braunschweig, Bremen, Chemnitz, Dortmund, Dresden, Erfurt, Erzgebirge, Frankfurt am Main, Hannover, Köln, Leipzig, Lübeck, Mainz, Nürnberg, München, Osnabrück, Rostock, Oldenburg, Stuttgart, Ulm, Wiesbaden